

HACKENSACK FULL OF RENT VICTIMS

Board of Health Aroused by Order for 1,000 to Vacate Homes May 1.

A thousand families will be forced out of their homes in Hackensack on May 1, according to E. B. Walden of the Hackensack Board of Health.

"This is a commercial matter really, but our interest is in the health side of the question," he said at a board meeting. "I realize this would prove a menace to the health of many when put out on the sidewalk. The Hackensack property owners and landlords in raising their prices and rent have made other profiteers look like 50 cents. Some considered it a joke when Sheriff Kennedy offered the vacant apartments in the County Jail to relieve the situation, but it isn't as much a joke as many think, and the offer may yet be accepted."

The Rev. Dr. Albert Vonschieder said Jersey City officials took prompt action against rent gougers, and he would consult with Mayor Demarest of Hackensack and ask for either a special session of the commission or a mass meeting. It is understood that the houses ordered to be vacated are to be occupied in the main by New York, Brooklyn and other out of town families.

Blames Untrained Surgeons.
CINCINNATI, O., March 18.—Physicians should serve an apprenticeship before they are permitted to perform an operation, declared Dr. Charles L. Bonfield of the Ohio-Miami Medical College, addressing physicians of that institution here.

"No one tries to be a carpenter, bricklayer, machinist or plumber without serving an apprenticeship," he said. "This should be the case on modern surgery. The surgeon who knows only the science and nothing of the art when he begins to practice by himself will fill many untimely graves."

United States Attorney George Taylor to prosecute him.

"That man," said Mr. Taylor, "is nothing more nor less than a traveling bar."

And then the shocking facts were introduced. There was a dance in Harlem the other night, and a revenue agent with a note for booze observed the popularity of the "chef cook," and finally pinched him. In one hip pocket was a bottle of cocktails. Another contained a bottle of whiskey. In the pocket over the heart was gin. And fourteen molet corks in the side coat pocket were taken as an indication of earlier thriving business. There was no denying it. "Fifteen dollars," said the court. "All on one day in jail."
